First Ground Is Broken for N-S Freeway

Cincinnati-Conneaut Road To Cost Up To $10 Million Per Mile

WOOSTER (AP)—Gov. C. William O'Neill presided at ground-breaking ceremonies here today for the first section of the Cincinnati-Conneaut Freeway.

The governor used a bulldozer to break the ground instead of the ceremonial shovel, and his act marked the start of the construction phase of the multi-lane highway project.

Eventually, the Freeway will link Cincinnati on the Ohio River and Conneaut on Lake Erie, extending for 310 miles, with Columbus and Cleveland as the other major terminus points.

The Freeway is to be constructed to interstate standards. There will be no traffic lights or stop signs along the entire route. No intersections will be on a grade.

Contract for this four-mile section in the northwestern corner of Wayne County near Wooster was awarded the S. J. Groves Co. of Minneapolis shortly after bids were opened Aug. 20. Completion date of this section is June 30, 1959.

THIS FIRST section will be four lanes with two 24-foot strips of concrete pavement on each side of 84-foot median strips. Each traffic strip will carry 10-foot berms paved with bituminous macadam. No interchanges are planned on this section, which will be constructed on a 300-foot wide right-of-way.

Five grade separations will carry traffic over this first Freeway section. They are: Rt. 301 (299-foot bridge); County Road 40 (266-foot bridge); County Road 503 (279-foot bridge); County Road 102 (401-foot bridge) and County Road 56 (389-foot bridge).

Cost of the North-South Freeway has been set at about $1 million a mile in rural areas. Cost per mile in urban areas will depend upon development within communities. Costs of up to $10 million a mile are projected for highly developed areas.

First sections of the Freeway will carry the roadway from the northern limits of Columbus to Ohio 18 near Medina. Final determination of the overall Cincinnati-Conneaut Freeway project.

First Lebanon Reformatory Bids Opened

COLUMBUS (AP)—The first phase of the southern Ohio reformatory at Lebanon is a step closer. The Ohio Department of Public Works opened bids on the first buildings in the $11 million project Wednesday.

When completed in 1960, the new institution will house about 1,500 inmates. Bids were opened, however, only on buildings not designed for inmate housing—an administration building, school, chapel and segregation cell block.

The apparent low bids were $227,079 below state estimates. They totaled $3,151,026.

Apparent low bidder on the general contract was H. W. Miller Construction Co. of Covington, Ky., at $2,439,000. Other apparent low bidders were: Freyn Bros., Inc., Cincinnati; plumbing; Tibbitts Plumbing and Heating Co., Dayton; heating, and Wente Construction Co., Hamilton, electrical.

Five cellblocks and a hospital are scheduled for the second construction phase at the reformatory.

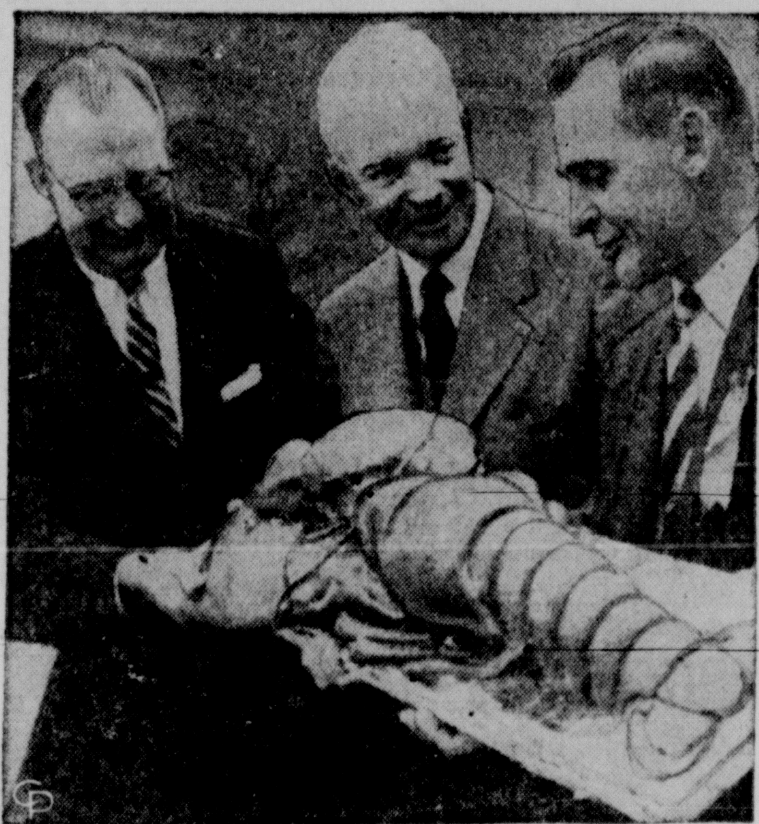

The Ohio Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction plans to make the Lebanon institution the state's reformatory for southern Ohio. The Marion correctional institution will become the northern Ohio reformatory. The present Ohio Penitentiary at Columbus will house southern Ohio convicts and the present Mansfield Reformatory for Men will become Northern Ohio Penitentiary.

East, West Now Wrangling Over Who Ends Conference

LONDON (AP)—The five-power London disarmament talks apparently were as good as over today with the usual lack of agreement. The West and the Russians were even deadlocked over who would take the initiative in ending negotiations.

Another meeting of the U.N. disarmament subcommittee was scheduled today despite the latest Soviet assertion that there was "no room for further discussion" of Western proposals.

That Soviet view was put forward Wednesday night at a Russian Embassy news briefing shortly after Valerian Zorin, the Soviet disarmament delegate, again told the subcommittee the Western proposals were not acceptable.

A Soviet spokesman told reporters there was no basis for negotiation in the package plan presented last week by the United States, Britain, France and Canada, the subcommittee's four Western members.

"We are not ready to accept them," he said. "It seems to me there is no room for further discussion of these proposals."

WITH THE 5½-month-old negotiations now tightly deadlocked, the next obvious step was to refer the whole matter back to the parent 12-nation Disarmament Commission in New York and ultimately to the U.N. General Assembly session opening there Sept. 17.

Neither side appeared willing to take the responsibility for bringing the London conference to a close.

The two main features of the West's package disarmament plan were:

NEW YORK (AP)—Johnny Dio, labor racketeer, and two other men were sentenced to two years imprisonment each today by Judge John A. Mullen for conspiracy and bribery.

Dio and his two co-defendants were convicted by a jury last month of conspiring to get money from two electroplating companies to assure labor peace.

Dio also was fined $10,000. Max Chester, former financial secretary of Local 405, Retail Clerks International Assn., besides being given a prison term, was fined $2,000.

The third defendant, Samuel Goldstein, president of Local 239, International Brotherhood of Teamsters, was fined $1,500.

Vaccine Allocation Procedure Set Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—The new Asian flu vaccine will be allocated to the states according to population.

Announcing this Wednesday night, the Public Health Service said "a program giving each state and territory its fair share of the vaccine seems to be the most equitable way of distributing the vaccine geographically throughout the country."

The Health Service said the six licensed manufacturers had agreed to this voluntary allocation system as proposed by Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney. The arrangement is now in effect.

American Airmen Laud Russian Jet

MCGUIRE AIR FORCE BASE, N. J. (AP)—Russia is bidding for a commercial airline agreement with the United States and American airmen expressed unstinted admiration today for the Soviet jet transport that has made the trip from Moscow.

The TU104, silvery, big-bodied and powerful, set down at McGuire Air Force Base Wednesday night, the first Russian passenger airliner ever to land in the U. S.

Promptly, highly placed Soviet officials read a prepared statement from the steps of the ramp:

"Let this flight be the beginning of regular flights between the Soviet Union and the United States," he said. "Hail to the friendship of the Soviet and American peoples."

By special agreement, the TU104 brought 40 people, mainly members of the Russian delegation to the United Nations, across the 5,570-mile route from Moscow to this Air Force base.

THE TWIN-JET liner, delayed by bad weather and refueling stops, took a total elapsed time of 21 hours, 54 minutes. Crewmen fixed the actual flying time at just over 13½ hours.

The Russians say they have other jet liners, bigger than the TU-104, that will fly nonstop from Moscow to New York.

American and British airmen, picked up to guide the TU104 through British and American airspace, had high praise for its performance.

"It's an excellent ship," said Capt. Boris N. Dubson, 37, of San Francisco, senior navigator. "It's smooth in flight and has very good performance at both high and low speeds."

Two other American airmen, Capt. Harold Renegar, 33, of Keller, Tex., pilot, and M. Sgt. Gaylord Robinson, 33, of Marietta, Ga., radio operator also were aboard.

Squadron Leader Lawrence Dale of Britain's Royal Air Force, said "it's an extremely good airplane. We all liked it a lot."

Dale added, however, that the new version of the Comet, British jet passenger airliner, "is much more lively."

THE SAME plane may go back to Moscow and then return, probably Sept. 14, bringing other members of the Soviet delegation to the United Nations.

The TU104 is the only jet passenger liner operating commercially in the world. It flies from Moscow to Peiping, Prague, and points in Siberia.

It can carry 70 passengers in tourist accommodations or 50 first class.

It has an estimated range of 2,000 miles and cruising speeds of 450 to 500 m.p.h. Top speed is estimated at 560 m.p.h.

Talent Thins Beauty Ranks

Miss America Test Judging Continuing

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Preliminary talent competitions continue today and Friday in the Miss America pageant.

The 51 girls representing 45 states, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Canada, Chicago, New York City and Washington, D. C. were split into three groups of 17 girls Wednesday so the 10 judges can see every entrant in all forms of competition.

Two blondes, Miss Arizona and Miss Missouri, won the bathing suit and talent championships Wednesday night in the first of three preliminary competitions.

Lynn Freyse, 20-year-old junior at the University of Arizona, captivated the judges in her beige and white wool bathing suit. Miss Freyse, 36-23-35 and 5 feet 5½, hails from Tucson.

Sara Ann Cooper, 18, of Buckner, Mo., danced her way to the talent championship with a lively interpretation of the Charleston.

MISS COOPER, daughter of Walker Cooper, catcher-coach for the St. Louis Cardinals, wore the traditional garb of the roaring Twenties for her three-minute dance before an audience of 6,612.

The hazel-eyed blonde said her costume was made with the help of her home economics teacher at Fort Osage High School last year.

Point totals in preliminary judging will be used to select 10 semifinalists Saturday night. The field will then be narrowed to five for the selection of the new beauty queen. The girls can garner additional points for personality through interviews with judges.

Only the winners of each night's talent and swim suit competitions are announced.

Regardless of the outcome, however, Wednesday night's talent winner was assured of a $1,000 scholarship.

Central Area Said Center Of Fighting

Fidel Castro's Forces Capture Police Office in Cienfuegos

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—A revolt backed by some naval units and maritime police broke out today in the Central Cuban city of Cienfuegos. Fighting still is in progress.

First telephoned reports said the naval and maritime police units joined forces of rebel leader Fidel Castro and captured police headquarters. The fighting broke out shortly after dawn.

Supporters of Castro were said to be thronging the streets of Cienfuegos shouting "President Batista has fallen." "government has been taken over by military junta headed by Castro's men."

Reports from Cienfuegos said police chief commander Antonio Ruiz Beltron had refused to surrender his headquarters and ordered police to resist. They added Beltron later was seized by the rebels and his headquarters surrounded.

CUBAN ARMY troops stationed in Cienfuegos have made no move to intervene.

An aide to the army commander was reported killed in early shooting.

Cienfuegos' banks and most business establishments were closed. One Cuban there said "all authority has broken down."

Cienfuegos, a city of 60,000 lies about 200 miles southeast of Havana and is a big port for shipping sugar.

The Cuban navy is reported to have a strength of about 7,000 officers and men. It has four frigates, two escort vessels and some smaller craft such as coast guard vessels. The army numbers about 15,000 officers and men.

The fighting came only a day after President Fulgencio Batista celebrated the 24th anniversary of his first coup.

The Cuban strongman, who has been in and out of power several times since 1933, was an army stenographer when he seized control of the government from a group of insurgent officers as leader of the so-called "sergeant's rebellion."

In Wednesday's anniversary speech, Batista said he was determined to crush the rebellion.

Cuban Rebels Sell 'Bonds' in America

NEW YORK (AP)—Supporters of Fidel Castro, Cuban rebel leader, are selling "bonds" in the United States to help finance their movement to overthrow President Fulgencio Batista.

Officials of the Democratic Workers Committee of Cuban Emigres said the revenue will be used for the relief of Cuban refugees from the Batista regime and for the support of families of insurgents.

They declined to reveal how much money has been collected.

Arkansas Chief Asks Ike's 'Help'

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus Wednesday night telegraphed an appeal to President Eisenhower to intervene in the stormy Little Rock school integration crisis.

As the governor's message was on its way to Eisenhower, Mayor Woodrow Mann of Little Rock issued a statement accusing Faubus of "creating tensions where none existed" in calling out National Guardsmen to prevent integration.

None of the nine Negroes, who were turned away by the cold steel of Guardsmen Wednesday, showed up this morning.

Six Negroes, identifying themselves as Arkansas Baptist College students, were escorted from the school area. They said they came to the school to see what was happening.

A guard officer told them, "It'll be best if you turn around and walk the other way."

The Negroes complied. Faubus urged the President to take action which would halt the threat of "interference of federal agents" in the question of whether Negroes and whites shall attend classes together at Little Rock's Central High School.

The governor termed the situation "explosive."

He also told the President that he had information that federal agents might be planning to arrest him.

Faubus had defied the order of U.S. District Judge Ronald N. Davies for integration of nine Negroes among 2,000 white students at the high school.

WHEN THE Negroes tried to get in Wednesday morning, Guardsmen refused them admittance on the governor's orders.

But in Newport, R. I., Eisenhower's headquarters said today

Court Held In Defendant's Front Yard

DETROIT (AP)—Court convened Wednesday in the front yard of Mrs. Florence Bittkofer — in full view of her angry neighbors and her puzzled dogs.

Mrs. Bittkofer's defense was simple: "Spot is a good dog. My dogs don't bite anybody."

But the neighbors said Mrs. Bittkofer's two dogs and their six puppies were a nuisance. They said the dogs barked at night and often rushed at them, although never actually biting anyone.

Judge John D. Watts of Detroit's Traffic and Ordinance Court had gone to Mrs. Bittkofer's yard to hold the hearing after she said she was too ill to come to his courtroom. She was charged with harboring a nuisance.

Spot and the other dog, Susie, maintained a discreet silence during the proceedings. But Mrs. Bittkofer, 46, had plenty to say. At one point Judge Watts warned her:

"Be quiet or you'll go to jail."

Mrs. Bittkofer lost the case. Judge Watts found her guilty but referred her to a probation officer. He agreed that she was not in good health.

He ordered Spot and Susie sent to the Michigan Humane Society pound. The puppies had already been given away.

60 Mph. Train Tosses Man, but He's Living

COLUMBUS (AP)—Wilton Harrison, 43, was struck and hurled 50 feet by a 60-mph. passenger train Wednesday and lived. He is in fair condition today in Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Harrison, deputy sheriffs reported, crawled under a halted freight train on the Pennsylvania tracks and tried to dart across the next track as the passenger train approached. He was hit by the train and hurled onto another track.

Landslide Buries 5

TURIN, Italy (AP)—A landslide thundered down a 600-foot hill at nearby Verrua Savoia today, smashing a small hotel and burying five members of the hotelkeeper's family in the ruins.

it is "not correct" that federal authorities have discussed the possibility of taking Faubus into custody.

"That rumor is not correct," said White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty in commenting on a telegram which Faubus sent to the President.

Hagerty also said there is no truth to what he called another report "to the effect that U. S. marshals or their deputies have been ordered to escort Negro children to school" in Little Rock.

Asked whether there had been any discussion by federal authorities in Washington or anywhere else about the possibility of trying to take Faubus into custody, Hagerty replied:

"There has been no discussion in Little Rock or Washington or any place else."

Eisenhower arrived in Newport from Washington Wednesday for the start of an extended vacation mixed with work. He got a new report regarding the situation in Little Rock before going this morning to the Newport Country Club for a round of golf.

Hagerty noted Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell already had announced that the facilities of the FBI had been made available for an investigation of suspension of school integration in Little Rock.

FAUBUS TOLD Eisenhower that the situation in Little Rock was growing more critical because of "impending unwarranted interference of federal agents."

He told the President that if these "actions" continue, or if his executive authority as governor to maintain the peace was breached he could no longer be responsible for the results.

Faubus said injury to persons and property would be caused and "the blood that may be shed will be on the hands of the federal government and its agents."

The governor urged Eisenhower to take action quickly and to "use your good offices to modify the extreme stand and stop the unwarranted interference of federal agents in this area."

Faubus said the question at issue in Little Rock was not integration vs. segregation. He said the question now "is whether or not the head of a sovereign state can exercise his constitutional powers and discretion in maintaining peace and good order within his jurisdiction, being accountable to his own conscience and to his own people."

Wednesday, Faubus said he had ordered the National Guard to prevent mixing of races in any Little Rock school. He insisted that he was not defying federal authority and said "the governor of a state is the preserver of the peace, not a federal judge."

In a speech Monday night, the day before schools opened, Faubus said he was ordering out National Guardsmen to keep peace and order because the majority of Little Rock's citizens did not want integration.

The decision to meet Monday, was made by the board at its regular September meeting last night.

Midnight, Saturday will mark the end of a 30-day period provided by law for the filing of a protest against the county board's consolidation order of August 7. The filing of a remonstrance petition voiding the consolidation is now considered unlikely.

In the absence of such a protest petition, the new school district will officially come into effect next week and five men will be appointed by the county board to serve as its board of education.

State law provides that when a new school district is created more than 30 days before a general election, the members of the board of education must be chosen by popular vote. However, the vote this year will be write-in only since the November election.

CASTRO, a young lawyer, organized his revolt from Mexico, and landed in Cuba last December. He lost many of his men in subsequent fighting.

Since then he has hidden out in the Sierra Maseira, a mountain range in Eastern Cuba, building up reserves in a jungle fortress. The strength of his forces is not known.

Meanwhile, Cuba has been hit with regular waves of bombings and terrorism, particularly in the cities.

A new outbreak in an exclusive Havana residential district earlier this morning left three men killed and three wounded after a running gun fight between police and suspected terrorists.

Negro Gls With White Wives Alerted
BAD KREUZNACH, Germany — The U. S. Army has recommended that Negroes with white wives transfer out of the Texas-bound 2nd Armored Division.

"It's a means of preventing embarrassment" when the division begins to move from here to Ft. Hood, Tex., in November, a spokesman said. Some of the Negroes in the division have married white German girls.

The spokesman declined to say what would happen if a Negro with a white wife insisted on going with the division to Texas. A spokesman at Army headquarters in Heidelberg commented:

"I guess about all you can do in a case like that is appeal to a man's good judgment. So far there hasn't been any trouble at all."

The division public information officer said he could not say how many of the 14,000 soldiers are Negroes and how many have white wives.

Missile Hassle May Be Over

There is mounting evidence that the Army has actually fired successfully a version of its Jupiter IRBM (Intermediate Range Ballistic Missile) 1,200 miles. According to verified reports the first missile contained a letter from one Army officer to another and was delivered undamaged.

This is of tremendous significance. It means that this country has successfully solved the problems of "re-entry" into the atmosphere of ballistic missiles which shoot into outer space—the big stumbling block heretofore.

Further, it signifies that the U. S. now has a workable long-range missile which Russia does not have. Secrecy cannot hide this and it is to be hoped that the veil will soon be lifted.

One result of this firing is seen in Defense Secretary Wilson's naming of a committee to "work out a plan whereby a single land based intermediate range ballistic missile is evolved at the earliest practicable date from the Thor and Jupiter test programs."

The Thor is the Air Force's missile and it is not nearly as far along in development as the Jupiter. It was that fact that led the Army to fight so hard, through Colonel Nickerson, for permission to continue its work in long-range missiles past next November when current money runs out.

Wilson had ordered the Army to get out of the long-range missile program, and to work only on 200-mile or shorter range versions.

Now, because of the Jupiter's success, there seems a good chance that sensible cooperation will be worked out between the two services. Perhaps an end is in sight at last in the continuous squabbling over whose missile is best.

Novelist Shuns Movie Sales

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Most writers dream of turning out a novel they can sell to Hollywood and become rich.

Dale Van Every, a top authority on America's early frontier, did it the other way. He quit a $75,000 a year job in Hollywood in 1943 to become a historical novelist.

"I was making $1,500 a week which made me a working picture writer, not a celebrity," he remarked drily. "My only regret now is that I didn't quit sooner."

Van Every, now 61, has written six novels, the most recent is "The Voyagers" since he turned his back on Hollywood, where he worked on some 100 pictures after an earlier career as a newsman here and in Washington, D. C. The novels have sold more than two million copies, including the paper back editions.

One of the ironies of his success as a novelist is that some critics, aware of his Hollywood background, feel his books have been written with an eye for the film market. Van Every says that actually the exact opposite is true.

"None of my novels has been sold to the movies," he pointed out. "I use fiction only as a kind of sugar-coating for the facts. It is the facts that interest me."

"My pleasure in writing is the delight in recreating a lost world the period between 1780 and 1811, when America really became a nation."

"Everyone knows about the frontier of the later West—the covered wagon, the stagecoach, the cowboy and the horse Indian."

"But even the college professors don't know much about the earlier West, the frontier east of the Mississippi—the West of the stockade, the flatboat, the long rifle, the time when the Indians outnumbered and were stronger than the white settlers and won every battle except the last one."

Van Every, whose grandfather's grandfather was a Tory fighter in the Revolution, has been interested in this little-known period since boyhood.

Thanks to his profitable years in the Hollywood vineyard, he was able to assemble one of the nation's finest private historical libraries.

A methodical craftsman, he writes five drafts on each novel, sometimes spends three or four days checking to be sure he has a detail of frontier life exactly right.

"Newspaper training is the best for anyone learning to write," he said. "It teaches you a respect for facts, and how to find and use them."

As a result of his interminable research Van Every lards his novels with such interesting facts as why Indians daubed a captive's head with clay before burning him at the stake (to preserve the scalp); why Indians rarely violated a white female captive (to preserve their own purity); what Indians used for hair oil (crushed sunflower seeds); what Indians regarded as delicacies (the eyeballs of the buffalo, and frogs cooked whole in cornmeal gruel).

Politics Upsetting Ike

By George Sokolsky

President Eisenhower is having a very difficult time in his second term as political leader, which is very different from his conception of the role of President. His difficulty arises from several causes:

1. He does not seem to realize that ours is a Congressional not a Parliamentary system of government and that the President is not a Prime Minister; 2. He has undoubtedly been badly served by his staff and advisers, who failed to keep him informed as to the probabilities of Congressional action and as to the shifts in public opinion to which Congress responds rapidly.

Probably his greatest disappointment arises from the fact that it is impossible to form a coalition government in this country, and that while the Democrats have been more gentle with him than the Republicans were with Harry Truman, nevertheless, they are Democrats and are looking after themselves. He also must recognize that the majority of his own party does not accept the modern Johnny-come-latelies.

The Civil Rights Bill is a case in point. The bill, as passed, satisfies nobody. For some reason, not readily understood, President Eisenhower's advisers believed that he could get from Congress a bill which would totally change the political complexion of the South. Such a bill could not pass.

Instead there is a watered-down measure, difficult to enforce, which gives no one any satisfaction. The best that can be said about it is that it is better than nothing at all so far as those who wanted such a bill are concerned.

The bill to "Save the FBI Files" while it does not affect the President, is nevertheless a reflection on President Eisenhower's appointments to the United States Supreme Court. The final bill completely overturned the Jencks Decision written by Justice Brennan, an Eisenhower appointee, and it was passed in the Senate by a vote of 74-2 and in the House by a vote of 315-0. Such a reversal of a Supreme Court decision by the Congress has rarely, if ever, been witnessed.

In this matter, it is to be noted that the President took no position and constitutionally he had none to take. Nevertheless, the court, as now constituted has been "liberalized" by Eisenhower appointees and has unquestionably outraged public opinion or the overturn of the Jencks Decision would not have been of such dimensions. Congress must reflect public opinion or many members will be defeated in the next election.

New Drug Weakens Allergy

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Medical science has developed countless drugs to protect you from diseases. And now, researchers are coming out with a new position to protect you from a drug.

During the course of this year, about one out of every three persons in the nation will have been given penicillin therapy in one form or another. That's about 60,000,000 persons.

Of this huge slice of our population, from 0.5 to 5 per cent will develop allergic or other reactions to this wonder drug.

The exact nature and severity of these reactions, of course, depend upon many things: the type and amount of penicillin administered, the method of administration and certain other considerations. Let's say that only one per cent of those treated have a reaction. That's some 600,000 persons who will suffer annoying rashes, severe shock or, in some extreme cases, even death.

So medical men have developed "penicillinase" to combat the adverse effects of penicillin.

Although we are not sure, we believe that the chemical manner of its action is in penicillinase hydrolyzing penicillin to penicilloic acid, which is nonallergenic.

At any rate, it appears that circulating penicillinase reduces all

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Someone has to back down on this one: President Eisenhower or Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas.

If Faubus gets away with what he's doing—using National Guardsmen to keep Negroes from a school ordered integrated by a federal judge—every Southern governor could feel free to do the same.

This would make a farce of the Supreme Court's ban on public school segregation. It would mean a breakdown of the federal government's power to carry out the law.

For almost 40 months since the court's ruling, Eisenhower has treated Southern resistance to integration with patience and platitudes. It seemed likely he could go on doing that as he prepared this week for a long vacation.

Some disturbances might occur at newly integrated schools opening this week. But that had happened before and there was no crisis. There appeared no reason to expect a crisis now. Then Faubus supplied it.

What he did he did twice. Before a Little Rock high school opened this week federal Judge Ronald Davies had ordered it integrated. But when it opened Faubus had National Guardsmen there to keep Negroes out.

The school board, willing to enroll the Negroes but unable to do so because of the troops, asked Judge Davies what to do next.

Again he ordered the school integrated. Again Faubus used the troops to keep Negroes out.

He said he wasn't defying the court but only trying to keep peace and order. One thing was certain: he was not cooperating with the court to carry out its order; he was obstructing the carrying out of that order.

He would have been cooperating if he had used the troops to prevent any interference with the Negro children who wanted to go to the school. Instead, he used the troops to bar the children who were neither disturbing the peace nor creating disorder.

Eisenhower is staying in the background so far, letting the judge and the Justice Department headed by Atty. Gen. Brownell, do the acting for the government. But the ultimate responsibility for whatever is done rests on Eisenhower.

Brownell has ordered the FBI to investigate the Little Rock situation and report to Judge Davies. That could pave the way for contempt of court action against Faubus if the administration is willing to force Faubus' hand. Eisenhower, said in a telegram to Faubus, said he understood plans were being discussed to take him into custody by force.

If Faubus backs down, he stands the chance of looking ridiculous. He's the first Southern governor to try anything like this. If he wasn't willing to see it through, he simply created a national disturbance needlessly.

If Faubus stands firm and the judge wants to bring him to court to face contempt charges, what happens? The governor has stationed National Guardsmen around his mansion, and U.S. marshals could hardly force him to face the judge if he doesn't want to.

If he refused to go, what would happen then? Somewhere along this line Eisenhower—provided he's willing to take a stand and back up the judge—may try in one way or another to persuade Faubus to back down as gracefully as he can.

Eisenhower who has never said he approved the Supreme Court's decision, has nevertheless repeatedly said he would back up the court's ban on segregation if he had to.

It isn't clear what Eisenhower's next step would be if Faubus ignored efforts at persuasion and, if ordered before the judge, refused to go. It's possible he might order the National Guardsmen in to federal service to take control of them away from Faubus.

They are under Faubus' control unless the President calls them out for one of three reasons: to repel invasion, quell insurrection, or enforce the laws.

The Guardsmen are paid by the federal government for drills and summer training but they are paid by the state government—as they are now—when the governor calls them out to handle a situation within a state.

Mechanical Brain for Small Business Eyed

Electronic Companies Seek To Penetrate Additional Field

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Big mechanical brains are catching on with big business. So now the makers of electronic computers are turning to making equipment tailored to the needs of smaller or medium sized firms. And their number is legion.

"Within five years small and relatively inexpensive electronic computers will revolutionize office and factory paper work, and the computer will be as familiar a piece of office equipment as the adding machine and the desk calculator are today."

This is the view of Maurice Horrell of Los Angeles, general manager of the computer division of Bendix Aviation. He hopes so, anyway, because he has some for sale.

Royal McBee's, president Philip M. Zenner points out that 99 per cent of the businesses in this country have fewer than 1,000 employees. Their problems become more complicated all the time and their need for more and earlier information is just as great as for the giant corporations.

His firm literally is pushing a $39,600 computer about the size of an average desk and which rolls on casters.

Stanley C. Allyn, chairman of National Cash Register, Dayton, Ohio, is bringing out this fall a middle size computer in the $40,000 price range. It is designed to blend in with the cash registers and accounting machines that generate the original raw data for the mechanical brain.

Allyn says a clerk can record electronically at the cash register checkout point such information as color, size, style, season, manufacturer of goods.

Burroughs also has a computer in the $40,000 range and other electronic devices in the middle price range. And it competes with NCR in the banking field with an electronic posting machine.

Giant brains, on the other hand, cost up to three million dollars and fill whole rooms. Many smaller companies don't have problems large enough to keep the big machines gainfully busy, even if they could afford one, or the lease of one's time. Hence computers scaled down to their own size.

The computer industry has been growing rapidly. From next to nothing in 1952, sales have risen to 350 million dollars a year now and are expected to top one billion dollars by 1960. But profits have been a different matter. Since 80 per cent of the big and medium size brains are on a rental basis, this puts off for several years the recouping of original costs, Horrell points out.

WILLIAM EDWARD VANNATTER

(In co-operation with J. Edgar Hoover, FBI Director, this newspaper is running a series of descriptive articles on criminals wanted by the FBI.)

The wanted man's aliases include John Edge, Jr., William E. Hamilton, Dick Hargroves, J. E. Hough, F. E. Stancil, W. M. Van Nater and "Bill."

Vannatter reportedly suffers from Hodgkin's disease and swelling of the neck. His occupations include refrigeration mechanic, truck driver and electrician.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Various cuts of beef will be the most popular offering at grocery stores this week.

This is not due, however, to any sudden reduction in beef prices. They're continuing at the recent high levels for the most part, and are expected to remain there for a while. Presumably super market chiefs decided they might as well offer a beef special now instead of waiting for prices to come down.

The Department of Agriculture notes that while the supply of fed beef, which yields top grades, was somewhat greater this summer, the volume of grass-cattle (source of lean beef) coming to market in coming months will be well below last summer and fall. Last year's production was spurred by droughts in key beef raising areas.

Many other meats will be featured at supermarket sales counters, of course. Frying chickens will be "specials" in many places. Lamb, ham, turkeys, pork rib and shoulder, and veal also will be offered.

Outstanding vegetable buys include peppers, yellow sweet corn, eggplant, green and yellow squash, bunched beets, new green cabbage, tomatoes and potatoes.

The small fruits such as grapes, nectarines, pears, figs and plums are coming in from California in good supply, with prices ranging from good to expensive. Peaches, too, are plentiful although market men warn that some show a wide range in quality, and condition. The pear crop is expected to run about 4 per cent ahead of last year's and reach a 10-year high. In addition, stocks of canned pears July 1 were estimated to be 54 per cent larger than a year ago.

Scouts Unimpressed By Paris Girlie Show

NEW YORK (AP)—The Folies Bergere, Paris' famed girlie show, may be the chief attraction for some, but for American Boy Scouts who saw it recently, it might as well close down.

Robert Luther, 33, an assistant scoutmaster from Portsmouth, Ohio, said Wednesday that some of the Scouts considered it a poor show. If it came to Broadway, they said, it wouldn't last a week.

Luther was one of the officials who accompanied the Boy Scouts on a five-week tour of Europe. The boys returned Wednesday.

Better Dry Cleaning All Ways

"Martinizing" — The "Most" In Dry Cleaning
114 S. COURT ST. — CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am 33 years old and unmarried, although considered very attractive and popular on dates. But why is it that all the fellows are out for one thing? Surely the other girls must be ready and willing.

The married men are no different. The single men are either alcoholics, or oddities or fortune hunters, or out for a good time. Just where are the good guys? What is a good girl with morals and principles to do? Give in? Or sit home by herself every night? I am very sad about this situation. I want to get married. Please don't tell me to read the books you often mention. It's all bunk.

DEAR P.D.: I believe you cherish a false picture of yourself. You say you are considered very attractive and popular on dates—yet in your experience "all the fellows are out for one thing."

As a matter of fact, really popular, genuinely attractive women your age don't have this difficulty with every admirer. A man may try, conversationally and otherwise, to determine his chances or the woman's inclinations. But if he recognizes that the woman—a really charming nice person—isn't available for that sort of thing, he likes her for what else she may have to offer, assuming she has anything else to offer.

It is my surmise that you are tense, brittle and embittered—animated by a blend of aggression and defensiveness in your manner with men. I think you arouse hostility in them (maybe unconsciously on both sides); and that's why they slap you down psychologically, with a selfish brand of behavior that leaves you smarting and makes friendship impossible.

Actually it seems you are nobody's friend, for you carelessly accuse all other girls (by implication) of being ready and willing to make immoral concessions to keep men on the string. This amounts also to projecting

Long-Sought Safe Found in Basement

TOLEDO (AP)—Police never were able to find the Keystone Extremist Co. safe after burglars broke into the place last June and stole $100.

Wednesday, manager Worth Breed hired some men to check his heating equipment and the men found the open safe in an unused room in the basement.

your wishful thinking into your judgment of others. One infers that you are straitlaced not so much by choice as by compulsion; and that you assume all others behave as you think you might, if you weren't held back by inhibitions that you can't escape.

Where are the good guys? Well, I expect surveys would show that most of them are married before they reach your age. And the others, who are bachelors in their thirties, usually turn to girls in the early twenties if they are wife-seeking, because they want unspoiled, unembittered, fresh open-hearted sweetness of temperament in a life partner.

There is too much acid in your personality at present—the characteristic handicap of the old maid. You seem to spray it as naturally as you speak—and your foregoing letter is a prime example. Even your closing sentence tells me where to get off—after you've gone through motions of asking my help with your problem.

What's the point in your rejecting the idea of reading books that weren't yet suggested? And mightn't have been? Why rasp "It's all bunk!" My guess would be that you want a life-transforming answer, in a few simple words, that you can swallow as easily as pie. You don't want to work for deliverance from your captivity to frustration and resentment.

If you hope to marry, you'd better learn how to endure yourself honestly to other people. When you are in a mood to open your mind to that proposition, write me again.

M. H.

$4 Million in Bids Eyed to Fix Roads

COLUMBUS (AP)—Contractors Wednesday submitted bids exceeding $4 million for improvements on 254 miles of Ohio highways.

The special opening of bids brought to about $72½ million the total bids submitted to date this year. Wednesday's bids were a part of a special $20 million program for improvements on some 2,500 miles of highways throughout the state. Most of the bids were for bituminous concrete resurfacing and repair of existing culverts and similar structures.

Controversial Arkansas Chief Retains Ozark Background

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The man who ordered the National Guard to stand watch over Little Rock's Central High School comes from deep in the Ozark hills—a far removed land where a man might spend a lifetime without ever seeing a Negro.

A touch of the twang of the mountains remains in the speech of Gov. Orval Faubus, but he has undergone a startling metamorphosis since he opened his first gubernatorial campaign in 1954.

Faubus seldom indulges in a grammatical slip but some metropolitan folk cringe at a few of his pronouncements—the same sounds that endear him to the common man in the Ozarks. He called the National Guard "the melish-ee" in his television speech Monday night.

His action in calling out the Guard to prevent racial integration at Central High was somewhat startling to political observers since the governor seldom goes all-out in any direction. For three years, he has been parrying direct questions from newsmen with increasing skill.

Faubus is 47, under average height with a plain face and an engaging grin that convinces voters of his sincerity. He has a reputation of retribution for his political enemies and fulfilled promises for his supporters.

He has bucked tradition by upsetting one-term Gov. Francis Cherry in 1954 although Arkansas voters usually grant a second term without protest. He won despite a charge that he had attended Commonwealth College of Mena, Ark., labelled subversive by the U.S. attorney general and later discontinued. He said he had been on the campus only for a few days and the charge may have worked to his advantage.

He defied another tradition in 1956 when he remained only slightly above lukewarm on segregation and still won without a runoff.

Faubus has increased in stature by degrees ever since he first decided—while he was president of the Greasy Creek 4-H Club—that he would like to be governor. He has paid for his own education and the lure that drew him to Commonwealth 27 years ago was a promise that he could work for his tuition.

Faubus may try to kick over another tradition: The third term. It has been attained by only one governor since Reconstruction.

In ordering out the Guardsmen, Faubus might have envisioned a 1958 campaign in which he would carry three burdens: The third term, a reputation for increased taxes—and segregation.

In the Sahara Desert it is sometimes 60 degrees colder at night than it is in the shade during the day.

Childless Buckeye Couple Has Farm, Plenty of Kids

By DON BEAN
Central Press Association
Correspondent

BEREA, O. — Charles Tulloss and his 43-year-old wife, Helen, jokingly say they have no children—but have plenty of kids.

They have dozens of kids all over the place—the goat variety. The couple operate the Heleurden goat farm in Berea. They have about 200 goats on their four-acre farm.

Common liking for goats brought the Tulloss couple together.

"I was a bachelor and had raised goats all my life as a hobby," says Tulloss. "I met Helen in Columbus while I was judging a contest in which she had entered some goats. We decided to get married and start our own goat farm."

Mrs. Tulloss often exchanges breeding stock with Mrs. Carl Sandberg, wife of the poet, at the Sandbergs' North Carolina farm. To most people the word goat usually brings vision of a shaggy-haired, odoriferous animal, but not in the case of the Tulloss Heleurden farm, as they have named their place.

THE FIRST thing about Heleurden farm that strikes a visitor is its cleanliness and odor-free atmosphere. The farm is almost within the city limits of Berea with many suburban homes surrounding the farm and never a complaint from neighbors.

OHIO MILK inspectors are more aware of the sanitary conditions at the farm. Inspectors have pulled many surprise inspections at the farm because of the low bacteria count in the milk.

"Ohio law permits a bacteria count of 50,000 per cubic centimeter," says Tulloss. "We have consistently had a bacteria count of between 1,500 and 2,000. The state inspectors pull their surprise visits because they think we are putting something in the milk to kill the bacteria. Well, we don't."

THE HELEURDEN FARM produces about 300 quarts of milk per day. The goat's milk wholesales at 55 cents a quart or retails at 65 cents a quart.

Four different kinds of breeds are in the herd—Toggenbergs and the Saenens, both Swiss breeds, the French Alpines and Nubians, an Arabian breed, that looks much like a bulldog with hound dog ears.

"Our milk is the champagne of the dairy business. It is used by ulcer patients, diabetics and mostly by babies with some sort of disorder or the other. A good goat can be milked for about 10 years and gives three to four quarts of milk a day."

The reason goat's milk is so widely sought after by persons with stomach disorders is its naturally homogenized character. The milk is actually homogenized by the goat.

2 Small Boys Balk At School Idea, Plan Lengthy Camp

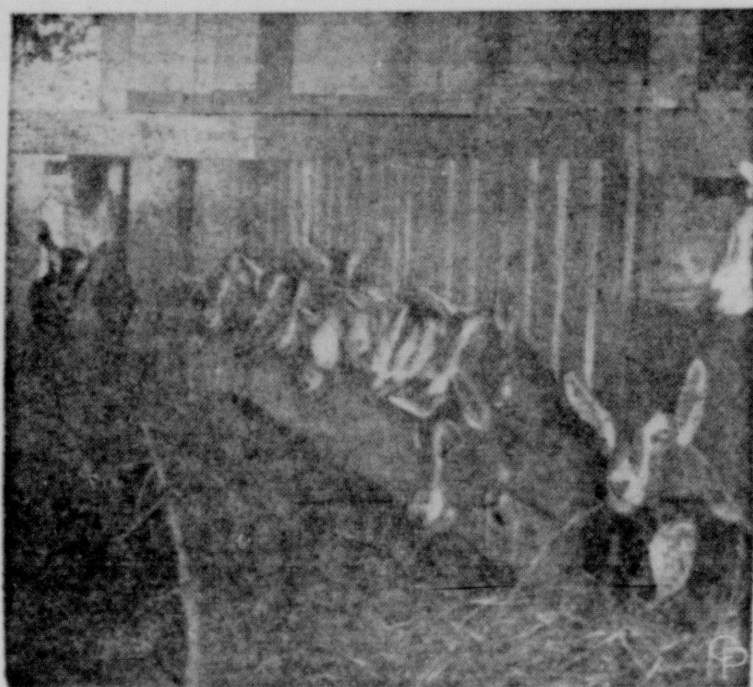

HOUSTON, Tex. — School seemed a dismal prospect to Cornelius Bilamowicz, 7, and his brother, Raymond, 4.

So the pajama-clad boys set bravely out before dawn Tuesday, prepared to camp out for a year if necessary to avoid the classroom.

When police interrupted their safari, they were headed into the wilds along hunting bayou, armed with an air rifle "to shoot game with" and a tarpauling.

The boys were not missed by their parents until a neighbor saw them. Juvenile Officer Everett R. Dennis Jr. said they told him they simply did not wish to show up for the opening of school.

Four-year-old Raymond was reminded that he had more than a year of freedom left. Raymond said he knew that, but he and his brother were going to "stay next year if necessary."

A goat is just naturally curious. Here dozens of kids poke their heads from their stalls to eye the photographer.

A good "normal" jet stream pattern (left) shows two West-to-East streams, one over the central part of the U. S., the other over the Gulf of Mexico, ideal for "hitchhiking" in the stratosphere. The very next day (chart at right) the jet stream has snaked itself into a different position, so that a jet pilot can save time and fuel by going far off his normal course on a flight from Seattle, Wash., to New York.

Flyers of Future To Hitch Wind Wagons

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER
Central Press Association
Correspondent

CHICAGO — Instead of "hitch your wagon to a star," as the old song went, the modern jet fighter pilot likes to hook his Starliner onto a "wagon" — a high altitude jet stream of air — and new forecasting methods developed here by University of Chicago and U. S. Navy meteorologists have figured out how to do it.

Prof. Herbert Riehl and his associates at the university have discovered that the mysterious streams of air which sweep around the spinning earth from west to east actually are like huge wind tunnels about 4,000 to 15,000 feet thick with air velocities of 70-200 miles an hour.

They are very high up—around the 30,000-foot altitudes—and commercial airline travelers on the long runs from Los Angeles to Chicago and New York sometimes experience their effects when the pilot announces that "we have caught a tail wind and will land about an hour ahead of schedule."

Some of the world's greatest flight speed records have been set with their aid, but the problem until now has been to discover how to plot where the great airstream pathways will be on a given day. Prof. Riehl has done it with the aid of elaborate daily weather reports from the Navy and the Weather Bureau.

He took a few hints also from the Japanese experience with incendary balloons which they ingeniously hitched to high-level air streams across the Pacific during World War II, and spotted into Washington and Oregon forest areas with astonishing accuracy.

THE JET streams save so much in flight time and fuel consumption that a pilot might gain greatly by following one as far south from Seattle as Dallas, and then swinging north to Chicago and Toronto before landing in New York City.

Professor Riehl's great discovery is that the streams of air are remarkably consistent. The air speed within the "air tunnel" does not vary more than about 10 per cent from the prevailing average, whether it be a "slow" stream of 70 miles an hour or one of the really fast ones.

The streams describe a wide range of curving patterns over the United States, but the entire "system" does not change rapidly. This

Americans To Join Lafayette Celebration

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mayors of 19 American cities and towns named after the Marquis de Lafayette left for France Wednesday to celebrate the 200th anniversary of Lafayette's birth. Among them were Mayor and Mrs. Gaylord Yost of Fayette, Ohio; Mayor Tom Robinson of Lafayette, Ohio; and Mayor Earl Berger of Fayetteville, Ohio.

makes forecasting reliable, and daily jet stream maps for airplane pilots may become a commonplace of the future.

It would be practical, for instance, for a pilot to catch onto a southern sweep of a great bend in one of the jet airstreams to give himself a boost along part of his journey into, say, Washington, D. C., from St. Louis or Nashville, Tenn., rather than to try to plot his entire course along its route.

There is a reverse aspect also, because it will be important in the future for jet plane pilots flying eastward at high altitudes to avoid the streams which will act as powerful headwinds greatly slowing them down and consuming great quantities of fuel.

Once the core of the jet stream is located, Professor Riehl finds that predicting the writhings of the snake-like pathway of air is comparatively simple, because it maintains its original shape from day to day and shifts at a constant, but relatively slow speed of about 500 miles a day.

Higher mathematics is used to forecast the paths of the jet streams and to figure flight plans for pilots seeking to use or avoid them.

THE CHICAGO jet stream research is being done in conjunction with Project AROWA of the U. S. Navy Bureau of Aeronautics, and is a continuation of investigations started here when the first jet stream theory was advanced 10 years ago by Carl-Gustaf Rossby, former chairman of the university's department of meteorology.

It is believed that the jet streams may also have a great effect upon the nation's weather, but that is a mystery still largely unexplored.

Deputy John Dowler concluded the evening with a few brief remarks.

The meeting closed with the group singing, "Sing Your Way Home".

The Sept. 3 meeting was given over to the election of officers for the new Grange year.

Social Secretary Big Aid To Argentine Ambassador

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON — The social secretary is a luxury for an ambassador and his family, says Mrs. Tom Burke—but a necessary one. Mrs. Burke has just taken a job with Argentine Ambassador and Mrs. Mauricio Luis Yadarola. Social life in this nation's capital needs a special interpretation, says the Chilean-born wife of a former State Department official. "Protocol is rather elastic here as compared with the restricted social customs of other capital cities, like Buenos Aires, London, or Rome. "Any person, even a newcomer, who has money and the ability to entertain can make the grade. In other places, before you make the grade, such attributes as family background, talent and education are considered. Washington is different in this respect even from New York, Boston, San Francisco and Pittsburgh. "Mrs. Burke, a talented hostess and musician, who was educated in France and speaks French and her native Spanish fluently, has lived in the Capital 23 years. She has been active in promoting good feeling and knowledge among women's organizations of North and South America and is now serving her third term as president of the Pan American Liaison

Committee of Women's Organizations. This is her first job as a social secretary. "A first precept of the social secretary is to keep the ambassadorial family informed of the diplomatic ways of arranging life here," she told me. "Having been the wife of a State Department man so long helps. The job calls on you to instruct or help or advise on calling procedures, on different arrangements involved in arranging receptions, dinners and other functions, whom to accept as guests and whom not to accept, as well as the recognized protocol. "The likeable Yadarolas, who have seven children and 16 grandchildren, are accompanied by their two attractive younger daughters, Maria Cristina, 18, and Angelica, 21, both of whom have teacher's degrees. Their four sisters are all married to army men, and their brother is a lawyer in the ambassador's law firm. "Mrs. Yadarola speaks no English. The ambassador is perfecting his, and his two daughters are assiduously learning their ABC's by attending a language school daily with him. "After their lessons the girls visit with Mrs. Burke to chat for an hour in English. Sometimes the ambassador joins them.

Helpful Cabbie Nearly Loses Cab

DETROIT — Trying to be helpful almost cost cab driver Moscoe Damron, 60, his taxi. Damron picked up a fare Wednesday who he said "sounded drunk and mumbled something about having no money so I figured I ought to report him to the police." Damron went to a nearby police station and left the fare in the cab while he went inside. The fare, Theodore Hanks, 38, jumped into the front seat and drove away. He was captured by police a few minutes later.

Low Taxes Not Only Asset In Ohio for Industrialists

Editor's Note: Following is the last in a series of three articles telling why Ohio ranks No. 2 on the list of industrial states.

By BILL TERRY
COLUMBUS, Ohio — Low taxes play an important part in attracting industry to Ohio, but they aren't the only reason Ohio is the nation's No. 2 industrial state.

That's the belief of Stanley J. Bowers, state tax commissioner who has been in the Ohio Department of Taxation for 24 years. "The Ohio tax structure is more favorable to certain classes of industry than those in Michigan or Pennsylvania because Ohio does not impose the same class of business taxes those states do," he said. "Real and personal property taxes are the heaviest tax burden business has to carry in Ohio. "They can cost four times as much in one district in Ohio as in another."

He listed these other factors that industries consider before building new plants or relocating old ones: Nearness to markets, availability of skilled labor, transportation, raw materials, power and fuel, living and recreational conditions including schools and other governmental services and nearness to related industries.

"They all are important factors, and industries add them up before making decisions," Bowers said.

He believes that most plants coming to Ohio represent expansion of industry through setting up of branches rather than plants leaving one state for Ohio.

Bowers says that for years Ohio has had a conservative government with both the administration and Legislature using care in increasing public expenditures.

"I don't think any major governmental services in Ohio are being neglected," he said. "Many people think you can solve most all problems by spending more money. I don't.

"Tax dollars should be spent wisely, and taxpayers, including industry, expect that."

The last two Legislatures enacted 42 pieces of legislation aimed at streamlining tax law compliance procedures. That, Bowers says, is part of the "tax climate."

Another element, he says, is uniform and strict enforcement of tax laws.

Prentiss Mooney, executive secretary of the Ohio Development and Publicity Committee, works closely with groups trying to bring industry to Ohio. Asked why industries are locating in Ohio, he said:

"Without making a study of it, the reason seems to be taxes.

But he added some employers give greater weight to the services a community supplies—which are supported by taxes.

"Ohio at least is not behind Michigan on the advantages it offers, other than in taxes," he said.

"Ohio is a natural for manufacturers. The people already here like the state. Many times suppliers of existing companies come in."

While Ohio has been getting new plants, industries here for years have been building additions and employing more people.

"It's not a dramatic growth and goes almost unnoticed, but it all counts," he said.

OHIO OUTDOORS

from THE OHIO DIVISION OF WILDLIFE

Ohio waterfowl hunters will be pleased to know that wood ducks will again be legal game during the forthcoming duck season which opens Oct. 18 and runs through Dec. 26.

Last year, 1956, the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service closed the season on wood ducks in the Mississippi Flyway, which included Ohio.

In announcing the Ohio waterfowl hunting dates, it was made known that the Ohio Wildlife Council had an option to permit hunting from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset and not taking wood ducks or accepting the one-half hour before sunset with one wood duck permitted.

After considering all aspects of the problem, Council decided more hunters over Ohio would benefit by being permitted to take wood ducks with all waterfowl hunting stopping at one-half hour before sunset.

THE 1957 waterfowl dates will coincide exactly with those of the 1955 season (two years ago) which was considered by many veteran duck hunters to have been the best in many years.

The complete summary of the 1957 waterfowl, coot and snipe season looks like this: daily shooting hours (including opening day, Oct. 18) one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour before sunset.

The daily limit of ducks is four and the possession limit is eight after the first day. One wood duck may be included in the daily bag and possession limit and one Hooded Merganser may also be included in the daily bag and possession limit.

Hunters may take five American and Red-breasted Mergansers singly or in the aggregate of both kinds with ten in possession after the first day. (These in addition in the regular daily limit of four other ducks).

There will be a daily limit of five geese (these limits on geese may not include, in the alternative, more than two Canada geese or its subspecies, two white-fronted geese, or one Canada goose or its subspecies and one white-fronted goose.)

The season on coots conforms to the waterfowl season with a daily limit of ten and possession limit of ten after the first day. The season on Wilson's of Jacksnipe will open on Oct. 18 and run for 30 days through Nov. 16. The daily limit for snipe is eight and the possession limit after the first day is eight.

ACCORDING to information received from the bureau of sport fisheries and wildlife, the fall flight of waterfowl from the large breeding grounds in Canada and northern United States is expected to be about the same as last year.

Although there is a possibility of a slight decrease in the total numbers of ducks produced due to drought conditions in some parts of the Canadian "Duck Factory", the decrease is expected to be of minor significance.

In view of the fact there was little change in the breeding population of Canada and blue geese, plus the fact that the weather was not adverse, it is estimated that the fall flight of these species will be about the same as last year.

Coot production has been excellent on the breeding grounds and a slight increase is expected in the fall flight of these birds.

According to Harold Green, supervisor of firearms and water safety in the division of wildlife, during the 30 day squirrel season in 1956, 18 persons were injured and six were killed. During all other game seasons combined there were 49 injured and five killed.

It is therefore apparent that the danger of being involved in a hunting accident is greater while squirrel hunting than while hunting any other game in Ohio.

MOST of these accidents are the result of a person being mistaken for game or the victim being in the line of fire and out of sight of the shooter. The generally heavy cover in which squirrels are found is one of the reasons for the large number of casualties.

With the 1957 squirrel season running almost two months (Sept. 2 to Oct. 31 in the southern zone and from Sept. 16 through Oct. 31 in the northern zone) it is apparent that hunters will have to use extreme caution if accidents are to be kept to a minimum.

Green also says, "To avoid being involved in a hunting accident, be absolutely sure of your target before you shoot and if you aren't sure where your shot is going, don't shoot. Be sure to wear bright colored clothing and above all 'Think' — your gun can't."

Yankees Hold Door Open for Chicago's Sox

Mighty Bronx Bombers Lose 10th in Last 17 Contests Played

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Memo to the Chicago White Sox: Don't just stand there, do something!

What more could an American League contender ask than to have the New York Yankees stumbling over every club in sight as late as September?

The Yankees suddenly have found their unbeatable bench unfrocked. The only club they've whipped in the past two weeks was the White Sox.

In their last 17 games, the champs have lost 10 for a .412 pace surpassed in futility only by the cellar chums, Kansas City and Washington. The White Sox after falling 6½ games behind in the Yankee sweep have lost three of six.

The Yankees kept the door open for Chicago again Wednesday night. They blew a 3-0 lead, missed a knockout punch in a ninth-inning rally and finally lost 7-5 in 11 innings to Boston. That left the champs five games ahead of the idle White Sox.

The National League leader had a tough night, too. Milwaukee's lead over second place St. Louis dipped to 7½ games as the Cardinals defeated the Braves 5-4 in 12 innings. Third place Brooklyn hung on, belting Philadelphia 12-3. The Dodgers trail by nine.

Outstanding pitching highlighted the other games. Rookie Moe Drabowsky halted the Chicago Cubs' losing string at seven with a two-hit, 1-0 first game victory over Cincinnati's Bud Podbielan, who allowed just three hits. The Redlegs took the nightcap 7-2.

Pittsburgh's Bob Friend beat the New York Giants 2-0.

In the other AL game, Baltimore bonus rookie Gerry Walker battled Washington's Camilo Pascual through nine scoreless frames, then won 1-0 in the 10th with a four-hitter.

Pete Daley, a 203 hitter, blooped a bases-loaded single that capped a three-run rally and led to a 5-3 tie for the Red Sox, then stayed in the game and rapped a two-run homer in the 11th. George Susce, 3-0 lifetime against the Yankees, won his seventh.

Tommy Byrne, one of three used by Yank Manager Casey Stengel was the loser for a 4-6 record.

Del Ennis singled home two in a four-run Cardinal first and finally nailed it with a sacrifice fly off losing reliever Don McMahon. Herm Wehmeier went all the way and won his eighth.

The Dodgers, held to three hits in a 3-2, 12-inning defeat by the Phils Tuesday night, rapped six pitchers for 14 this time. Don Cardwell lost it while ailing Don Newcombe squared his record at 11-11 but had to give way to relief help in the seventh.

Ernie Banks' 33rd home run won it in the fifth for the Cubs while Drabowsky retired the first 18 in order. He gave up only a triple to Johnny Temple in the seventh and a pinch-single by Jerry Lynch in the ninth, while walking none and fanning five for his 10th victory.

The Redlegs broke out for 13 hits in the nightcap while Joe Nuxhall won his ninth with a nine-hitter.

Two doubles by Gene Freese, the first driving in a first-inning run and the second coming ahead of Dick Groat's single, won for Friend, now 11-17. Rookie Mike McCormick lost it for a 3-1 record.

Here Are Brief News Items From Midwest Grid Camps

Minnesota — The Gophers plunged into heavy drills and contact work with the top three teams working against reserves. The No. 1 backfield was made up of Bob Cox, Bob Soltis, Bob Blakey and Bob Schultz.

Iowa — Drills in fundamentals, passing and punting featured Iowa's workout. Quarterback Randy Duncan did most of the passing with ends Jim Gibbons and Bob Prescott on the receiving end.

Michigan — Jim Pace's passing pepped up Michigan's drill. Right halfback Rudd Van Dyne, a sophomore, injured his right shoulder and may be lost for the season.

Lowly Redlegs, Cubs Display Hot Pitching

CHICAGO (AP)—It's too bad some of the season's best pitching had to be wasted Wednesday by two teams with no place to go except through baseball's revolving door.

Young Moe Drabowsky turned in a two-hit performance to lead his seventh place Cubs to a 1-0 shutout over Cincinnati in the first game of a twin bill.

He had to, almost, because Bud Podbielan, recently recalled from Seattle, hurled three-hit ball and made just one mistake—a hard fast one in the fifth, just where Ernie Banks likes 'em. Result: Banks parked it in the left field bleachers for a home run.

Came the second game, and Joe Nuxhall stayed the route in a nine-hit performance as Birdie Tebbetts' fifth-place team gained a 7-2 victory. Nuxhall thereby became the third Redleg hurler in four games to go the distance, even though he lasted only two-thirds of an inning after starting Tuesday night's 14-4 debacle at the hands of the Cardinals.

In the first game, Podbielan had a no-hitter cooking until Bob Speake beat out a one-out bunt in the fourth. After Banks' fifth inning circuit clout, only Walt Moryn was able to hit safely.

Meanwhile, Drabowsky was able to keep his own effort intact until Johnny Temple opened the seventh with a triple.

Rythmic Swim Group Closes Pickaway Pool

The Pickaway Country Club closed a successful swimming season Monday with a synchronized aqua show at the club pool.

Featuring all local talent, theme for the event was "Around the World", directed by pool manager Dick Boyd with the assistance of Mrs. William Blanton.

A large group of spectators enjoyed the colorful swim show which was accompanied by appropriate musical arrangements.

Local girls participating in the event were Debbie Kidlon, Martha Smith, Sharon Hedges, Mary Ann Edstrom, Nelda Clary, Judy Barnhill, Carol Wuest, Emily Welton, Nancy Harden, Betty Tyson, Sandy Smith and Miss Eddie and Miss Frasier.

Hayes To Juggle Buckeye Lineup

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio State University's first lineup changes of the fall will be made today, but just what they are, Coach Woody Hayes isn't saying.

There is some speculation that Joe Trivisonno will take the full-back spot away from last year's regular Galen Cisco and that Dick Schatrat will displace Al Crawford as the No. 1 left tackle.

Hayes did say that if Frank Kremblas continues to turn in the fine passing performances of the past three days, he may succeed Frank Ellwood as quarterback.

Solon Asks Ike Ban Segregated Games

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Rep. James G. Fulton (R-Pa.) urges President Eisenhower to ban all U. S. military school, academy and service teams from participating in segregated sports events.

In a telegram to the President, Fulton specifically asked that Army be ordered not to play its scheduled football game with Tulane at New Orleans Nov. 16.

The congressman said Wednesday he based his protest on a law passed by the Louisiana legislature in 1956 that prohibits interracial sports participation and integrated seating.

Mal Anderson Tagged New Aussie Power

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—A few more sharp performances when he gets home to Australia and Mal Anderson will be battling United States in the Davis Cup Challenge Round this year.

"I know I'd use him instead of the other guy," observed U. S. Cup captain Billy Talbert today. "You know what you're going to get from him. You don't know what the other guy is going to do."

While Talbert took pains to avoid naming the "other guy," he obviously was referring to Neale Fraser, who ranges from shaky to downright wretched.

Anderson put on another sparkling show Wednesday when he gained the quarter-final round of the National Tennis Championship at the expense of second-seeded Dick Savitt. The score was 6-4, 6-3, 6-1. Fraser was eliminated in the second round by unseeded Cliff Mayne.

Budge Patty, Cooper and Cliff Mayne all gained their brackets Tuesday. In addition to Anderson, Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, Luis Ayala of Chile, Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Sven Davidson of Sweden moved ahead.

Cleveland Loses Another Pitcher

TORONTO (AP)—With another pitcher shelved by injury, the Cleveland Indians play an exhibition game with the Toronto Maple Leafs tonight.

Latest mound corps casualty is John Gray who will have bone chips removed from his right elbow at Lakeside Hospital in Cleveland Saturday. Gray had pitched only once in the last month because of his sore arm. He tossed a 6-0 shutout at Baltimore in the first game he hurled for Cleveland after the Tribe brought him up from San Diego six weeks ago.

Fullmer Seeking To Regain Title

WEST JORDAN, Utah (AP)—Former middleweight champion, Gene Fullmer opened a campaign to regain his crown immediately following his bruising unanimous decision over Chico Vejar Wednesday night.

Manager Marv Jensen said Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, "has promised Gene a shot at the winner of the Basilio-Robinson fight. Sugar Ray Robinson, the middleweight champion, and Carmen Basilio, the welterweight title holder, fight for Robinson's crown in New York City's Yankee Stadium Sept. 23.

Judge Del Markham scored the 10-round nationally televised fight 47-41. Judge Bob Yokum had it 50-38 and Referee Ken Shulsen had it 49-42, all for Fullmer.

ner prepared by Fred Skinner and assistants in the pressbox concession stand, a large turnout of players and dads assembled in the school auditorium to hear an interesting address by Morrison, former standout football player with Ohio State, the Chicago Bears and the Cleveland Browns.

Morrison, speaking with the confidence of a veteran player, pointed his talk to the CHS gridgers present, emphasizing some of the characteristics which make a good football player.

The former professional based his talk mostly on a wealth of experience with the Browns, describing in detail the many differences in college and pro football.

MORRISON was high in his praise of Cleveland Coach Paul Brown, pointing out that Brown is a master of the game. In the same respect the gridder stressed that high school players should have respect and confidence in the ability of their coaches.

The one-time Ohio State gridder ended his talk by holding a question and answer period.

Observer Lists 5 Reasons Why Braves Faltered in '56

Editor's Note: Here is another in a series of articles leading up to the 1957 World Series.

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — There were five basic reasons why the Milwaukee Braves lost the pennant last year.

1. A weakness at second base and left field.
2. Lack of knowledge of the fundamentals—bad bunting, poor base running, too frequent throwing to the wrong base.
3. Lack of balance—deficient in left-handed batting strength and right and left-handed relief pitching.
4. A thin bench—inadequate reserve strength.
5. A September slump that affected all the hitters and all the pitchers with the exception of Warren Spahn.

As the Braves head into the final month of the season—to an almost certain pennant—Manager Fred Haney has the satisfaction of knowing that all but the fifth reason for Milwaukee's failure to win last year have been eliminated. And because of those four correctives, there almost certainly will not be a duplication of last September's swan dive.

The master stroke, of course, was the acquisition of Red Schoendienst from the New York Giants on June 15. With nearly 15 seasons behind him, the 34-year-old second baseman has been just what the doctor ordered. The Braves picked up steam and acted like a completely different ball club almost from the first day he joined them.

The Braves still are not adept in bunting and they're last in base stealing. But they've grasped a certain knowledge of baseball fundamentals.

A year ago rival managers righthanded the Braves to death. Rarely did a lefthander start against them. Once they got past Mathews—and maybe Bill Bruton—the pitchers had no more worries regarding lefthanded opposition.

This year, when the opposition starts a righthander, Haney counters with a lefthanded array consisting of Mathews, Wes Covington, Frank Torre, Carl Sawatski, Schoendienst, plus the sensational newcomer from Wichita, Bob Hazle. Against a lefthander, Haney simply inserts righthanders Del Crandall, Nippy Jones and Andy Pafko in place of Sawatski, Torre and Hazle.

The soundness of the bench demonstrated that Milwaukee was the best balanced team in the National League.

When key men like Joe Adcock, Bill Bruton and Johnny Logan were sidelined for long periods, Torre, Pafko and Felix Mantilla filled in admirably. Jones did a great job when Torre was out briefly and when Pafko was hurt, Hazle became a veritable sensation in right field.

"If ever I needed convincing that this was a different club," Haney said, "it was the way the entire club chipped in when all those guys were out. At one time we had five regulars out. If the club was going to fold that was the time. Instead, they pulled in their belts and went to work. That's what makes life worthwhile for a manager."

Lions, Browns Complete Swap

DETROIT (AP)—Linebacker Roger Zatkoff, involved in a series of recent pro football trade reports, was acquired by the Detroit Lions today in a deal with the Cleveland Browns.

Detroit General Manager Nick Kerbawy said the Lions agreed to send halfback Lew Carpenter and an undisclosed draft choice to the Browns in exchange for the former University of Michigan star.

Kerbawy said the trade was in essence the same one that fell through several weeks ago. The initial trade offer was made when Buddy Parker was still coach of the Lions. Parker resigned and is now head coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Basilio Bitter In Appraisal Of Sugar Ray

ALEXANDRIA BAY (AP) — When a fighter says he doesn't like an opponent, you normally can discount it as ballyhoo. In the case of Carmen Basilio, it sounds like the real thing.

"How can you like a guy who does the things that he (Sugar Ray Robinson) has done?" asked Basilio at his training camp in the Thousand Islands. "I'm a fighter. He's a fighter. How can he look down on other fighters?"

Basilio, seven years younger than Robinson at 30, says he has a double-pronged motive in beating the Harlem sugar dandy. "He has caused a lot of people a lot of aggravation and somebody has to get even with him. Secondly, he wants all the money so let him take all the licking."

Basilio claims he wasn't upset about Robinson's sidown strike that threatened to call off their Sept. 23 match.

"I knew he wasn't going to pull out," he said. "It didn't bother me. He wouldn't dare pull out now. They'd hang him."

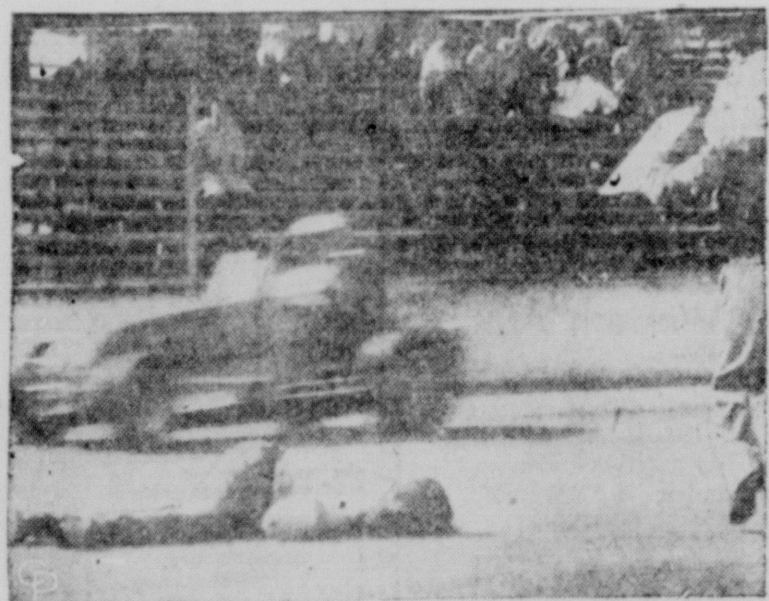

As for the fight itself, Basilio makes only one prediction: "I'm going to win. It's possible it might go 15 rounds but regardless, Basilio is going to win."

"This is the one fight I have to win," said Basilio, the welter champion. "It's my whole career rolled up into one fight. I'd like to be remembered as the man who finished off Ray Robinson."

Farm Payment Limit $3,000

Acreage Reserve Ceiling Announced

Total payments under the 1958 acreage reserve programs will be limited to $3,000 to any one producer on any one farm, Luther List, chairman of the Pickaway County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, told farmers today.

The limit of $3,000 applies to the total of all acreage reserve payments made to any one producer on any one farm in connection with all 1958 crops eligible under the 1958 program, the chairman explained. If a farmer earns $3,000 on his farm under the 1958 winter wheat acreage reserve program (for which the sign-up is already in progress) he may not earn any additional amounts on that farm in connection with 1958 acreage reserve programs for any other basic crop such as corn.

The $3,000 limit does not include payments under the conservation reserve—the other part of the soil bank, List pointed out. There is a separate limit of $5,000 in the total of conservation reserve annual payments which may be made in any one year.

Farmers are encouraged to visit the county ASC office early if they wish to take part in the 1958 winter wheat acreage reserve program. A new feature of this year's program is the establishment of a "soil bank base" for each participating farm, and this base must be established before a program agreement may be signed.

THE GROWER will be responsible for furnishing the county office with the production history and other information needed to establish this base, and this information should be supplied at least 15 days before the end of the sign-up period, which is October 4.

Another phase of the 1958 winter wheat acreage reserve program is the new 10 per cent incentive payment above the 1958 program compensation rates. The condition attached to the higher payments is that the farmer put the identical land in the 1958 acreage reserve as was included in the 1957 program. Any questions concerning the 1958 winter wheat acreage reserve program can be taken to your Pickaway County ASC office for discussion.

1-Man Nuclear Reactor Readied

CANOGA PARK, Calif. (AP)—A miniature nuclear reactor that can be operated by only one man has been developed for use in school, medical and industrial laboratories. The price: $55,000.

Its developers, Atomics International, a division of North American Aviation, Inc., said Wednesday that the reactor is cylindrical, eight feet high and eight feet in diameter. Its core is a stainless steel sphere a foot in diameter containing a solution of uranyl sulfate. A lead shield housed in a water tank surrounds the sphere. The reactor can be installed without special facilities, its makers said. It is designed to be used to make demonstrations and to conduct experiments.

Hotel Bellhops Get Radio Gear

INDIANAPOLIS, (AP)—The Marriott Hotel has a new shortwave radio system to keep its bellhops on the hop.

Palmer Suddaby, general supervisor, said the system includes 28 lapel receivers and four sending stations powerful enough to reach personnel 30 feet outside the hotel.

"It should speed up our room service several hundred per cent," Suddaby said.

Freighter Aground In Detroit River

DETROIT (AP)—The Cornelius, a 588-foot self-loading freighter from Buffalo, ran aground Wednesday at the junction of the Amherstburg and Livingstone channels in the Detroit River, about three miles south of Bob-Lo Island.

The craft was not in any immediate danger and other ship traffic was able to pass without difficulty.

The Cornelius, which draws 21 feet of water, hit bottom when the water level dropped to 20.1 feet because of westerly winds.

British Study Group Urges Relaxed Homosexuality Law

LONDON (AP)—A government committee on vice today recommended easing Britain's laws on homosexuality.

The committee suggested that homosexual behavior in private year old or older should no longer be a criminal offense.

The committee said it could not recommend making prostitution illegal.

To cut down the vast number of prostitutes who patrol some of London's streets, however, it suggested stiffer sentences for soliciting—the only offense dealing directly with prostitution that stands on Britain's statute books.

The committee of 12 men and three women was headed by Sir John Wolfenden, vice chancellor of Reading University. The Home Office set it up three years ago to study both homosexuality and prostitution.

It reported to the home secretary, R. A. Butler. Its recommendations are not binding, but could strongly influence future legislation.

The government established the committee when public attention was increasingly focussed on homosexuality. There have been suggestions that the number of homosexuals in Britain has risen steeply since World War II. Men in the highest walks of life have run afoul of homosexuality laws during the last several years.

"We do not think that it is proper for the law to concern itself with what a man does in private unless it can be shown to be so contrary to the public good that the law ought to intervene in its function as the guardian of that public good," the report said.

"... It is held that conduct of this kind is a cause of demoralization and decay of civilizations, and that therefore unless we wish to see our nation degenerate and decay such conduct must be stopped, by every possible means. We have found no evidence to support this view."

"Insofar as the basis of this argument can be precisely formulated, it is often no more than the expression of revulsion against what is regarded as unnatural, sinful and disgusting."

A table accompanying the report showed that the number of indictable homosexual offenses known to the police rose from 622 in 1935 to 6,644 in 1955.

The committee found that homosexuality, "is not, in spite of widely held belief to the contrary, confined to members of particular professions or social classes" and suggested better sex education as the best means of lowering the rate.
